

Fast Flickering Wind Turbines Could Provoke Seizures

Graham and Pamela Harding, researchers at Aston University, have worked with Arnold Wilkins from Essex University to discover that fast-flickering wind turbines could provoke attacks.

You can read more about this here.